Cumulative performance

Monthly Comment

Market fell in June, weighed down by geopolitical uncertainties and lack of progress on tariffs. The weakness of the USD also affected European markets. In our view, European economic news flow continues to point to a slow and steady recovery.

Against this backdrop, ELEVA European Selection was down 0.41% vs an index down 1.22%, an outperformance of 81 bps.

Sector allocation had a slightly positive impact, thanks to the underweight in consumer staples and health care as well as the overweight in utilities. Conversely, the underweight in energy and the overweight in communication services and consumer discretionary had a negative impact on performance. Stock picking was positive, particularly in industrials, health care and financials.

Siemens Energy had a strong performance, as analysts increased their expectations on gas and grid technologies divisions on the back of a boom in investment decision, and favorable price increases. Civil aerospace companies were particularly upbeat at a recent conference on the strength of the aftermarket, helping Rolls Royce and Safran reach new highs. Technology (ASM International) also had a good recovery with increased expectations on AI spend.

Adidas underperformed despite strong brand momentum, because of the lack of clarity on export tariffs to the US. Assa Abloy fell as analysts cut their numbers to reflect the depreciation of the US dollar. Pharma names (AstraZeneca) were affected by continued uncertainty on drug pricing and export tariffs.

Economic growth was decent in 2024, with low growth in Europe and in China balanced by an acceleration in the US. Falling inflation expectations reduce the risks of a Central Bank mistake. Our proprietary European macroeconomic index is improving gently, while the global one has also recovered since April. There might be some early signs of economic improvement in China. Patience is needed in Europe for interest rates and stimuli announcements to have an impact on economic activity. In that environment, we believe that corporates will still be able to grow at a moderate pace, but risks are growing with trade wars and US dollar weakness.

Value and cyclical were at 51.9% and 57.5% of the fund respectively.

Since inception, ELEVA European Selection is up 90.54% vs an index up 82.51%, an outperformance of 803 bps.
