Monthly Comment

Markets rallied in July, investors were relieved by the tariff headlines that were within the expected range. Earnings for US companies also helped the market mood. In Europe, they were in line with expectations, but somewhat affected by the recent strength in the euro.

Against this backdrop, ELEVA European Multi Opportunities is up 1.58%. In July, both the equity pocket and the fixed-income pockets contributed positively to the fund performance.

Within the equity pocket, financials, health care, and industrials contributed positively while technology, utilities, and materials were detractors.

Banks rallied in the month, thanks to a combination of better than expected revenues, low provisions and ongoing high capital returns. Commerzbank was strong and was helped by the increase in German GDP expectations and increased expectations of a UniCredit bid. Société Générale had an excellent set of results and unveiled a material new share buy back. Erste Group Bank upgraded its guidance on ROE and profits. Elsewhere, UCB also had a strong set of numbers, their key drug Bimzelx was 30% above expectations in terms of sales. Consumer exposed stocks were under pressure, because of worries on the health of the US consumer and the tariff impact. Investors' nervousness transpired in the very strong negative reaction on minor earnings disappointment. Adidas was weak with some signs of slowdown in their footwear sales. Universal Music Group underperformed on an inline set of numbers; there was confusion on the consequences of the departure of Cyrille Bolloré from the board. ASM International disappointed on their orders in the quarter.

Major central banks remained cautious in July, waiting for more clarity on trade negotiations with the Trump administration. Inflation in the eurozone returned to around 2% and growth remained resilient. The fixed-income portfolio performed well, mainly thanks to the performance of credit and Eastern European countries, which offset the rise in core sovereign rates.

Since inception, ELEVA European Multi Opportunities is up 29.24%.
